

Update bulletin for GOING HOME kit

Including helpful information for ordering the GOING HOME kits.

Did you know . . . that 26 hospitals across Canada have adopted the GOING HOME kits? Many of these sites have already depleted their initial orders and have already re-ordered kits.

Continue to order kits using the FAX order form that was provided with the information package from the CCPN or through the Internet: <http://www.headcan.com/goinghome>.

On the order form, please note any special delivery instructions, including where the shipment should go (i.e.: specific office or department) and to whom the shipment should be directed.

Headcan (the company responsible for the distribution of the kits) will process each order as soon as we receive it, but plan on a week before receiving your shipment of kits.

Did you know . . . that you can order bracelet extenders along with your kits? Check the box marked “Bracelet extenders” on the order form to receive a supply for patients who require a larger bracelet.

Your extenders will be included in the main shipping carton, so please look for them and put them aside for easy access when you need them.

Did you know . . . the display cartons have a lid which can function as an extension of the box and where another 10 kits can be placed along with the 10 within the box.

Finally, several improvements have been made for the next version of kits, including a larger wallet card with larger print for easier reading. Also, the wallet card slots have been improved so you will see fewer loose cards in the kits.

If you have additional questions regarding ordering the kits or require order forms, please contact Headcan by email – rdarlington@headcan.com or FAX – 416-365-7790.
